

L'etranger Reserve Fine Wines March 2016

Over time, our passion for wine has proven that it has no boundaries. This obsession has led us to collect large numbers of fine wines and prestige collections, buying en primeur through different suppliers and through private cellars. Subsequently we have achieved a cellar that boasts amazing wines in immaculate condition that we are able to offer at the lowest price. Among the numerous accolades that we received through the years, it is worth mentioning that in 2013 we won best wine list in the UK with the AA rosette. And in 2014 we won best champagne list in the UK with Imbibe. If you find any of these wines at a lower price in London, please email us at ibi@etranger.co.uk and we will reduce the price further. Enjoy!

Salon is an exceptional Champagne, arguably the rarest of all. It's the legacy of one man: Eugène-Aimé Salon, a Champagne fanatic who devoted his life to creating the quintessential we now know as Salon. Located in the celebrated grand cru village of Le Mesnil-sur-Oger in the Côte des Blancs, Salon is made in tiny quantities (5,000 cases per vintage) and only when conditions are absolutely right, a rare occurrence given Champagne's marginal climate. Since its first vintage in 1905 Champagne Salon has declared just 41 vintages (the most recent being in 2008, the 1997 vintage. Its' official UK tasting was held in L'etranger wine room through Corney & Barrow), it's the 36th vintage to be released. Exceptional complexity, focus and elegance are common to all vintages of Salon. Like all great wines, Salon expresses this inherent identity irrespective of the vagaries of specific vintage conditions. Salon is a Champagne made on average only three times per decade.

Ozeki Premium Junmai, California 750ml £75.00

Ozeki Premium Junmai is one of the three sake products that Ozeki first brewed in California in 1979. Ozeki Premium Junmai is the traditional style sake that you can enjoy anyway you would like with a variety of dishes. This sake is dry and delicate on the palate with a full-bodied flavor and well-balanced aroma. Let it warm you in the winter and cool you in the summer!

Kokushi Muso Cocoo Junmai, Hokkaido 500ml £75.00

The famous brand of Hokkaido sake presents the first fragrance: Cocoo. Fresh and smooth consistency with a taste of fruit from yeast malic acid, with careful fermentation, is light and sweet. Pairs well with grilled fish and seafood, salads and pasta.

Koshi no Kambai "Muku", Junmai 720ml £110.00

Muku possesses a powerful profile, with a dense rice taste and complex intermingling flavours. Medium-bodied, cleanly balanced, with a deep lasting finish.

Yamagata Shou-In, Junmai Ginjo 500ml £50.00

From Yamaguchi prefecture. Dry and Fragrant with blossoming bouquet of floral and apples. Made with gohyakumangoku rice.

Hoyo "Kura no Hana", Daiginjo 500 ml £80.00

This complex sake combines liquorice perfume, earthy mushroom and sweet caramel notes while remaining light and delicate with floral flavours and aromas. About 55% of the rice is polished away. Kura No Hana translates "Fair Maiden."

Jean-François Coche (and since 1999 his son Raphaël) are behind the 9 hectares with a portfolio including Corton Charlemagne, Meursault Perrieres, Caillerets, Narvaux, Rougeots, Vireuils and Chevalières plus more recently a Puligny Enseignières. There are also reds in Auxey-Duresses, Monthelie, Pommard and a 1er Cru Volnay which, yield permitting, can sometimes be split into Clos des Chênes and Taillepieds – the majority of cuvées by number are Meursault with 12 different parcels only one of which is red, but a major portion of production is given over to generic regional wines including an Aligoté.

Robert Parker describes Jean-François Coche-Dury as "one of the greatest winemakers on planet earth", and few would beg to differ. The yields are low, partly from a high vine age, partly from planting density and particularly from short pruning – “green harvesting is used in extremis as in 2004. If JFC’s wines are famous for one thing (other than price) it is the oak treatment... Clearly it is not such a high new oak percentage (around 50%), but given an average 22 months in barrel it is time enough for the oak to flex its muscles.

CHATEAU CHEVAL BLANC
Bibliothèque

This Premier Grand Cru Classé property occupies a unique position in St Emilion With its mysterious name. It was in 1832 that the first part of what was to become Cheval Blanc was acquired by the Ducasse family from the Figeac estate, at that time owned by Countess Félicité de Carle-Trajat. In 1852, Mlle Henriette Ducasse married Jean Laussac-Fourcaud, and her dowry included their recently acquired vineyards. These were of high quality, and included two of the five gravel mounds that run through Figeac and Cheval Blanc, part of the gravelly terroir that also touches near-neighbour Petrus, in Pomerol, and by 1871 the property was spread over 41 hectares, as it is today.

The vines, which are 57% Cabernet Franc, with the balance mostly Merlot (39%), augmented by a little Cabernet Sauvignon (3%) and Malbec (1%), lie on three principle terroirs; first a blend of gravel and sand over much of the vineyard, secondly a large area of sand and clay over a compact blue clay, whilst lastly a smaller proportion of the estate is sandy-clay with iron deposits. The vines are aged over 30 years on average and there is a conscientious approach to vineyard management. Herbicides are nowhere to be seen and anything other than natural fertiliser is eschewed while the soil between the rows is ploughed to control weeds and encourage deep root formation. The vines are harvested typically at 35 hl/ha, assisted by a green harvest during the summer.

Domaine Henri Gouges is arguably the most famous domaine in Nuits St. Georges. The Gouges family has been vineyard proprietors in Nuits for generations and proprietors of the current domaine since 1919. Today, Henri Gouges' two grandsons, Christian and Pierre, own and manage the domaine. which consists of 14.5 hectares of vineyards and includes holdings in 6 Nuits St. Georges 1er Crus. The harvest is entirely destemmed and vinification takes place in lined cement vats for approximately fifteen days, depending on the vintage. After cuvaision, the wine is transferred to small oak barrels, of which approximately one-quarter are renewed each year. The wines are fined with egg whites and given a light filtration before bottling. Production is small, with demand invariably outstripping supply and consequently wines from this domaine are becoming increasingly difficult to find

At Domaine de L'Arlet, as at other top wineries throughout the world, great care is taken to produce the healthiest and most concentrated grapes possible. The average age of its vineyards is 25 years, and some vineyards are older than 50. These vineyards yield very low quantities of grapes, partly due to the advanced age of the vines, but also because Jean-Pierre De Smet the winemaker has a policy of severely pruning the vines in order to limit production.

In this domain we have the pleasure to be the only restaurant in London and probably in Britain to list Eugene Ellia's wines. He is known in France for his style of discretion and privacy even though he has been the champion of France in Bridge quiet few times, but his real love for the past forty years is pure and simple wine. He is the only wine maker who has no agents in France or anywhere else in the world. You want his wines then you have to get in touch directly. His vines are crafted in the purest tradition and ploughed by horses which is lighter than the machine to allow the earth not to settle, giving the vines all the necessary force to develop great wines. The grapes are handpicked and the white wins remains for 12 weeks in Oak barrels while the reds will age for 18 months in their cellars. These wines are powerful and generous with cherries and strawberries aroma.

DOMAINE DE LA ROMANÉE-CONTI

Domaine de la Romanée-Conti is the most famous wine estate in all of Burgundy. The vineyards are centred around the village of Vosne-Romanee, which are some of the most highly revered in the whole of the Côte de Nuits. The Domaine makes a selection of exquisite pinot noir based wines with are rich, silky, balanced and complex alongside a spectacular chardonnay based Montrachet. The domaine, commonly known as DRC, is co-owned by the de Villaine and Leroy families. In accordance with the complex land-ownership structures prevalent in Burgundy, the de Villaine land is shared amongst ten different family members, whilst the Leroy sisters each own twenty-five percent of the domaine.

The domaine has twenty-five hectares of vineyards and all are Grand Crus. As well as the 1.8 hectare monopole La Romanée-Conti, the Domaine purchased its other monopoly, La Tâche, in 1933, along with significant holdings in the grand crus of Richebourg, Romanée St Vivant, Grands-Echezeaux, Echezeaux and Le Montrachet over the past 200 years.

Bernard Noblet makes the wines in the footsteps of his father André Noblet. Whole bunches of late harvested grapes are used, with a long vatting time that helps to prevent heat spoilage. Yields are miniscule and the winemaking is highly traditional and perfectionist. DRC wines are some of the most highly sought after wines in the world and have an almost mythical reputation

Clos Des Truffiers

Planted in 1961 by the local mayor, Max Paux, the minuscule, 4-½ acre Clos des Truffiers vineyard, is without a doubt one of, if not, the oldest Syrah vineyard in all the Languedoc. Situated in the village of Saint-Pargoire, nearly a thousand feet above sea level, it overlooks the city of Béziers and the Mediterranean Sea to the south. The soil is mostly arid, rocky sandstone with occasional limestone veins surfacing here and there. Little grows here but for trufflee oaks (truffieres), scrub brush – and vines!

The estate is owned by Jeffrey Davies, an American courtier/exporter who lives in Bordeaux. The vineyards are managed and the wines crafted by the same team that is responsible for the Château de la Negly, Jean Paux-Rosset and winemaker Claude Gros. Its vines are pruned severely, resulting in minuscule yields (averaging 8-15 hectoliters per hectare) and the grapes are harvested at optimal physiological ripeness regardless of sugar or acidity levels. These wines are subjected to a very long maturation (sixty days) and aged in new oak barrels for twenty four months. Clos des Truffiers wines are one of the most voluptuous wines on our list.

Angelo Gaja, is the great-grandson of Giovanni Gaja, who founded the winery in 1859.

This winery is situated in the Piemonte region in the district of Langhe, chiefly producing a number of Barbaresco and Barolo wines, and later diversified into Brunello and "Super-Tuscan" production. Angelo is credited with developing techniques that have revolutionised winemaking in Italy, and terms such as "the undisputed king of Barbaresco" and "the man who dragged Piedmont into the modern world" have been applied to him, and whose Barbaresco wine is considered a status symbol on a par with Château Lafite-Rothschild

From 1961 began the first experiments with green harvest or diradamento, and single vineyard production was started with Sorì San Lorenzo in 1967, Sorì Tilden in 1970 and Costa Russi in 1978 Since 1970 Gaja has employed the eminent oenologist Guido Rivella. Gaja is also credited with introducing to Piemonte malolactic fermentation, from the 1975–1976 vintage implementing French barriques ten years after initial experiments, bringing in thermo-controllable fermentation equipment and French grape varieties, and eventually grand cru prices. Giovanni Gaja opposed his son's use of new barriques and the decision to plant French grape varieties.

In 1978 the Darmagi vineyard in Barbaresco, a prime Nebbiolo site, was planted with Cabernet Sauvignon. Gaja stated this was done not because of his love for Cabernet Sauvignon, but from the belief that only by making a great Cabernet, aged in barriques, could he persuade the world that Italy was capable of greatness. And only by succeeding on terms accepted by the rest of the world could he draw attention to the great wines made from Italy's indigenous grapes. This was followed in 1979 when The Gaia & Rey vineyard in Treiso was planted with Chardonnay. Later in 1983, Sauvignon Blanc was planted in the Alteni di Brassica vineyard in Barbaresco.

Lebanon

Chateau Musar is located in an 18th Century castle in Ghazir, just fifteen miles north of Beirut, the Chateau was founded in 1930 by Gaston Hochar, although since 1959 it has been run by his two sons Serge and Ronald. Serge Hochar is the more prominent of the two and the one responsible for making the wine. The grand vin here is the red Chateau Musar, a blend which may include Cabernet Sauvignon, Cinsaut, Carignan, Grenache and Mourvedre. The wine is fermented in concrete, before spending one year in vat, then a year in French oak, before going back to vat for several years. Hochar believes his wine needs years - perhaps ten - before it is ready for drinking, and the wines are already some way towards that age when they are finally released onto the market.

SINE QUA NON

Founded in 1994 by Manfred Krankl and his wife Elaine, began making his own wines with 1994 harvest of a Bien Nacido Syrah which was named The Queen of Spades to supply the restaurant Campanile, initially with an output of approximately 100 cases but by 1996 the production had increased to 2,000 cases.<sup>1</sup> Sine Qua Non's Syrahs were among the first American Syrahs to create significant interest and trading volume in the worldwide wine auction market. From the second quarter of 1999 to early 2008, the value of SQN wines at auctions appreciated by 163% . In collaboration with Austrian winemaker Alois Kracher Manfred and Elaine Krankl have also produced sweet wines under the label "Mr. K" (after the surnames of the two winemakers) Krankl announced that this program would end with the release of the 2006 vintage due to the untimely passing of Kracher. The wines typically include the grape varieties of Syrah, Grenache, Mourvedre, and whites made from Roussanne, Viognier and Chardonnay. Sine Qua Non also produced a Pinot Noir through the 2005 vintage, but has discontinued that program. In certain vintages, the winery has released a sweet white wine or a rosé wine. The annual production of Sine Qua Non averages 3,500 cases (320 hL).

Sine Qua non wines are highly sought after for good reason: they are some of the very best wines being produced in the United States. The Krankls continue to strive to make improvements. For those who have had the pleasure (and luck) to taste these wines over the years, one can notice even more refinement and harmony in each new release.

The château was built partly in the 16th ,It became the property of the de Lur Saluces family in 1785 when Josephine d'Yquem married Comte Louis Amedee de Lur Saluces.The Château was acquired by the LVMH group in 1999. The present management of the estate is under the control of Pierre Lurton, President of the château since 2004. The great secret of d'Yquem is that the grapes are picked one by one at exactly the right moment, namely when their sugar content is such that they could in theory produce wine of an alcohol content of 19 degrees to 20 degrees. Château d'Yquem has 113 hectares of vines, of which only one hundred produce grapes in a given vintage. Twelve hectares of land thus remain uncultivated every year. There are just two grape varieties: Sémillon (80%), which produces a rich, sappy wine with body and structure, and Sauvignon Blanc (20%), an early-ripening but less reliable producer, which contributes aromas and finesse.
